

Pension Awareness Week - what's going on?

We're looking forward to being involved with Pension Awareness Week again this year!

We want to make a positive difference and we're aiming for members to feel more confident about their pension.

There'll be lots of useful information and resources to look out for via our website and social channels, follow us on LinkedIn and X (formerly Twitter) and help spread the word to our members.

Summer retirement application revisions

Although we've had a high number of successful summer retirement applications, there's been an increase in cases needing to be revised. This is due to service and salary updates made after we've received the application.

We'd like to stress all information needs to be accurate when submitting the retirement application.

Asking affected members to update their contact details

Soon we'll be sending out important information to members who are affected by Transitional Protection.

Therefore, we ask you encourage employees if possible, to check their contact details are correct and update them if required. This can be done via My Pension Online (MPO).

Missed a previous bulletin?

If you've missed a previous bulletin and would like to go back to read our important updates, you'll be glad to know we hold all previous bulletins on our website.

There's a section for the Employer Bulletin and a separate section for the Payroll Bulletin. If you've colleagues who don't receive the bulletin, you may want to advise they can find them on the website. We've also got a dedicated section for all our news stories.

- Register for our ‘Transitional Protection’ drop-in session.
- Please read our short finance update below to help increase the quality of your submissions.
