How to Complete the Medical Information Form.

Notes for applicant and medical practitioners

Advice for Medical Practitioners providing information to support an application for ill-health retirement benefits.

If a member of the Teachers' Pension Scheme has health problems, in the first instance where appropriate their employer should arrange for occupational health support to look at ways to help them remain in or return to work, in line with the requirements of Disability Discrimination legislation, ill health retirement should be a last resort.

To satisfy the criteria for early retirement on grounds of ill health, it is necessary for the applicant to provide medical evidence that demonstrate that:

- The applicant has a recognised medical condition;
- The applicant has completed all reasonable treatment;
- The medical condition renders them incapable of teaching for 'in-service' teachers or any gainful employment for 'out-of service' teachers. either full or part-time;
- The incapacity is on the balance of probability likely to continue until normal pension age.

To satisfy the criteria for 'in-service' total incapacity enhancement, the person must be unable to undertake any gainful employment. The Medical Advisers to the Teachers' Pension Scheme rely exclusively on what you submit and will not seek further medical evidence. It is therefore essential that the evidence provided is comprehensive. When a medical condition is severe enough for ill health retirement to be considered, it is generally be expected that the applicant will have had the benefit of a specialist opinion during their illness. In addition the work and health aspects of the condition should have been considered by an occupational health professional. If reports from specialists, and confirmatory test results that are available, copies should be enclosed with this application.

Questions 1-3 : The Medical Advisors are interested in any medical conditions or previous related conditions that could impact on the applicant's capability and the history of these conditions. Sometimes it is the accumulated burden of ill health from several conditions that tips the balance, sometimes it's a single major condition. You should list all the relevant conditions and any complications of the conditions here. Any appropriate supporting medical evidence should be enclosed with this application but please do not send x-rays, photographs or CD Roms.

Question 4 : The Medical Advisors would like to know how the condition(s) impacts on the applicant's general health and capability. On the physical side is there an impact on walking, sitting, standing, vision, hearing etc. On the psychological side is there an impact on personality, mood, affect, memory etc. How do any changes affect the application in her/his personal life?

Question 5 : The applicant must have completed all reasonable treatment before a condition's long term impact can be considered permanent. You must set out the treatment that has been undertaken and any that has been described as inappropriate, along with the reasons. This includes treatment, not only to enable the applicant to return to work, but also any treatment aimed at improving the quality of the applicant's life.

Question 6 : This is also about treatment and it is worded to prompt you to mention any other treatment that might be relevant to the applicant's condition(s).

Question 7: On the basis of your assessment and that of any specialist what is the scope for improvement over time or with treatment in the applicant's functional ability. This is about the likelihood of the persistence of the condition. Is there, for example, an established pattern?

Question 8: This is a specific enquiry about the impact the condition has on the applicant's normal role. Are they unable to do all of their role or just elements of it? Would they be able to manage part-time work in a similar role? Or work at a different establishment?

Question 9: Bearing in mind the answer to Question 7 has the employer made any attempts at adjustments. If so what has been tried and what was the outcome?

Question 10: By workplace issues we are seeking to understand if events such as interpersonal disputes or disciplinary procedures are an impediment to a return to working and any relevant dates.

Questions 11 and 12: These questions allow you to summarise all the evidence that is relevant to the applicant's case. Whilst the decision will be made by independent medical advisors appointed by the Department for Education, these questions do allow you an opportunity to highlight and present any evidence based rationale for any opinion you might wish to offer.

Part C - Information about terminal illness or harmful information

Members of the Teachers' Pension Scheme can receive different benefits if they have a life expectancy of twelve months or less. If you consider that they have such a reduced life expectancy please indicate that on the form.

If you think that this or any other medical information could be harmful to the health of the applicant, please indicate this in your submission and if possible include it on a separate sheet, marked 'Harmful Information'.

Part C: Medical practitioner and declaration: This part is to be completed by the medical practitioner and the declaration signed.

Fees

Please note that Teachers' Pensions are not responsible for the payment of any medical fees. The fee for completing this form will be paid by either the applicant or their employer, if the applicant is still employed, or the applicant if they have left teaching service.
